About This Game

Lock, load and let the gibs fly in OTTTD, a Tower Defence/RTS game with RPG elements that pits you against some of the weirdest creatures in the multiverse.

OTTTD stands for Over The Top Tower Defence, and you'll see why when you're blasting 9 kinds of hell out of a Cactus Ghost that's making a beeline for your battlefield HQ. You play as a commander for HEROCORP™, the 4th largest private military organization in the galaxy. A long period of peace has left the company coffers a little bare so the science division developed Trans-Dimensional Rifts, opening up lucrative opportunities for war in other universes. It's like Starship Troopers meets Stargate meets Spaceballs, with way more explosions!

Features

- Ridiculously definitive edition

Prepare your eyes and ears for incredible deluxe-ness! Featuring crisper sound and high resolution graphics, the PC release of OTTTD will leave you feeling like you've actually stepped into an alternate universe and started blasting everything to smithereens.

- Deep RPG Mechanics

OTTTD lets you choose from 7 hero classes to make up your squad of 3 battlefield employees. The more action they see the more XP they earn, giving you the chance to level them up through custom skill trees, including powerful combat abilities to unleash during the fight.

- 30+ active abilities
- 40+ passive skills
- 30+ equippable weapons
- multiple armor options with stats to suit your play-style

• Weapons! Weapons! WEAPONS!

With 12 tower types to build and 6 different firearm classes, HEROCORP™ has got the hardware to ensure you can wreak havoc in your own personal style.

• Disgustingly varied foes

The range of enemies in OTTTD is wide enough to soothe even the itchiest trigger finger. Floating eyeballs? Check. Gunclams? You know it. Giant armored Wartoises? Of course. You'll even go toe to fin with a giant flying shark, and show the mythological Kraken who's boss!

The Story

The year is 2136. You work for HEROCORP™, the universe's 4th largest private military force. Your job is to "preemptively defend" the Earth against alien dimensions. As long as you complete the missions under budget and fill out the TPS reports in triplicate, everything goes smoothly.

Is pre-emptively defending Earth ethical? Who cares when the money's good!

Deluxe Edition

HEROCORP understands the needs of the more discerning battle commander, hence the Deluxe Edition of OTTTD. In addition to everything in the pre-order, you'll get the Deluxo weapon and armor sets. Recently developed by our Lab Division, the Deluxo Range gets more powerful each time your soldier levels up, making it worth its weight in requisition forms. We'll also throw in a Deluxe Wallet, with 69,000 coins and 11 medals to buy yourself something nice.

- Dexluso Armour - Armour that gets stronger as you get stronger
- Dexluso Gun - Gun that gets stronger as you get stronger
- Deluxe Wallet - 69,000 starter coins and 11 starter medals

OTT Edition

In addition to everything in the Deluxe Edition, the OTT edition comes with rare Cheese Armor so forged by our Dairy Division, which helps your soldiers get more XP and coins on the battlefield.

You will also receive these bad boys:

- An Art Book PDF, full of concept sketches plus more visual treats.
 - OTTTD poster artwork. Looks amazing on 100% of walls.
- 3D Printer files for the HEROCORP soldiers, so you can battle command IRL.
- An OTT Wallet stuffed with 101,010 coins and 42 medals, to give you the financial edge on your enemies."
- Bonus Armour - "Vintage Combat Cheddar" - 20% XP bonus and 5% coin bonus

English

I enjoy a lot this game (as for the number of hours I've played in a couple of weeks...). Although I'm far from an expert in tower defense games this one made me include them in my wishlist, so I think it is worth something in the big scheme of towery things.

Trigger Freedom has a voice quite similar to Arnie Sch!#$%nneger, I wonder why!?. Clarence Suave, has an awful stereotypical French accent that you'll love and most of the other guys are just fun, including Loco Vortex. That's if your randomly assigned names are as fun as mine.

Get it, stop being in doubt!

Works perfectly on Fedora 29; what you humans call Linux.
